About the Artist

I graduated from the University of Massachusetts – Amherst in May of 2009 with a B.A. in Communications and started Kayla Creamer – Photography & Film around the same time that I started working at Amherst Media as the Government Access Coordinator. My job at Amherst Media has put me in the middle of hundreds, if not thousands, of film projects. While I don't have formal training in photography, a lot of my film knowledge carries over into still photography. I've always had an interest in photography. I specialize in senior, couples and family photography, but have been getting more requests to photograph weddings and toddlers lately. I'm always seeking new ways to create fun and unique portraits.

What to Expect

Once you book a shoot with me, we'll discuss the best location for your session. There are numerous options, including a very versatile studio space located in Westford, MA. Sessions generally last from an hour to an hour and a half. Outfit changes are welcome and clients are always welcome to bring any props that they may want to include in their session. I will do my best to include special props. Once the session is complete, I begin working on editing the best photos and will make them available in an online gallery for you to review within 2-3 weeks.

Styling Tips

I find that there's lots of great style inspiration on Pinterest. I have a Pinterest board with lots of styling inspiration which you can find at pinterest.com/kcpdf/session-style-inspiration. If your session is for a large group, such as a family, picking neutral colors and one or two colors to make your photos "pop" looks really great. Also, if you plan to hang prints in your home, picking colors that fit with your home's color scheme is a good idea as well. We can talk more on a one on one basis about the best looks for your session.
